Composition of the Board

Go to 2016 Annual Report, pages 61-64 – Board of Directors at <http://www.boartlongyear.com/company/investors/annual-reports/>

The Board currently comprises seven non-executive directors and two executive directors. The Board continues to hold a diverse range of skills and experiences to act effectively and in the best interests of its shareholders.

The Company's two executive directors are Mr Jeffrey Olsen, who became the President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Company on 1 March 2016, and Mr Marcus Randolph, the Board Chairman, who served as the Company's Interim CEO while a search was conducted for a permanent CEO. At the request of the Board, Mr Randolph maintains certain executive responsibilities to assist Mr Olsen in the fulfilment of his duties.

As part of the Centerbridge Partners, L.P. (Centerbridge)-led recapitalisation of the Company (completed in 2015) the Board agreed that Centerbridge would be entitled to nominate up to four directors (depending on the size of the Board), including the Board Chairman, subject to the approval of a majority of the independent directors. Messrs Clayton, Tochilin (who replaced Mr Lewinsohn on 20 January 2017), Long and Randolph are current directors who were nominated by Centerbridge and approved by the Board.

As the Chairman served as Interim CEO and Executive Chairman during part of the reporting period and continues to have executive responsibilities, the Company did not comply with Recommendation 2.5 of the ASX Guidelines during the reporting period. The Recommendation provides that the Chairman of the Board should be an independent director and should not be the same person as the Chief Executive Officer.

Skills and diversity of the Board

The Board, with the assistance of its Remuneration and Nominations Committee, regularly assesses the skills and diversity of the Board and considers whether the Board's composition and mix of skills are sufficient for the Board to competently discharge its responsibilities and meet its objectives. The Board has determined that together, Board members have a broad range of skills, extensive experience and knowledge and sufficient diversity necessary to oversee the Company's business.

The following Board skills matrix demonstrates the skills, experience and diversity of the directors in office as at the date of this Statement.

Board independence

Go to Board of Directors Charter

The Company recognises that a majority of the directors should be independent, and the Board reviews director independence at least annually. In assessing the independence of non-executive directors, the Board has considered the criteria detailed in the Board charter and the ASX Guidelines including, whether a director:

- is a substantial shareholder of the Company, or an officer of, or otherwise associated directly or indirectly with, a substantial shareholder of the Company;
- is or has been employed in an executive capacity by the Company or another member of the Group within the last three years, and there has not been a period of at least three years between ceasing such employment and serving on the Board;
- is, or has within the last three years been, a partner, director or senior employee of a provider of material professional services to the Company or another member of the Group;
- is, or has within the last three years been, in a material business relationship (e.g., as a material supplier or material customer) with the Company or another member of the Group, or an officer of, or otherwise associated directly or indirectly with, someone with such a relationship;
- has a material contractual relationship with the Company or another member of the Group other than as a Director of the Company;
- has close family ties with any person who falls within any of the categories described above;
- has served on the Board for such a period that his or her independence may have been compromised; and
- the director or any family member of the director has received compensation in excess of A$100,000 from the Company during the past year other than in direct connection with the director fulfilling their role as a director of the Company.

The Board annually assesses the independence of each director in accordance with the Board's independence criteria. The Board has determined that Messrs Clayton, Day and McLennan and Mses O'Toole and McClain are independent directors and, therefore, the Board is currently comprised of a majority of independent directors.

The Board has considered the independence of several directors in light of their relationships with Centerbridge. Messrs Tochilin and Long are not regarded as independent due to their current or recent employment with Centerbridge, a significant shareholder in the Company.

Messrs Randolph's and Clayton's nomination to the Board by Centerbridge also has been considered. Each of them joined the Board as an independent, non-executive director, as neither represents Centerbridge's interests on the Board, and the Board is comfortable that they are able to bring an independent judgment to bear on issues presented before the Board. The Board also took into account Messrs Clayton's and Randolph's former employment as executives of Rio Tinto and BHP Billiton, respectively. Although Rio Tinto and BHP Billiton are material customers of the Company, the Board does not consider that Messrs Clayton's and Randolph's prior relationships with Rio Tinto and BHP Billiton threaten their independence. The Company's relationship with those customers is a customary arms'-length customer-supplier relationship based on standard commercial terms, and Messrs Clayton and Randolph do not participate in any manner in the parties' commercial or operational relationship.

As discussed above, Mr Randolph temporarily acted as Interim CEO and continues to serve as Executive Chairman. The Board has determined, therefore, that Mr Randolph should not be considered an independent director in light of the executive responsibilities he continues to exercise at the Company. Mr Rex McLennan, Senior Independent Director, continues to preside over private sessions of the independent directors and otherwise represent the views of the independent directors.

The Board's annual review of director independence also includes reviewing for director relationships with the Company's customers, suppliers, consultants and professional advisors. Apart from the certain director relationships with Centerbridge, as noted above, no director has any significant relationship with a material business partner of the Company or the Group.

Board processes

The Board meets at least six times a year and convenes additional meetings as required. The agenda for Board meetings is prepared by the Chief Executive Officer, the Company Secretary and other senior management in conjunction with the Chairman and, along with supporting papers, is distributed to directors prior to each meeting. Certain senior executives participate in Board and committee meetings to provide the directors with access to key operating, financial and compliance personnel on a regular basis. In addition, the directors have access to other Company employees in Board and committee meetings and in other settings.

Details about the number of times the Board met throughout the financial year ended 31 December 2016 and the attendance of each Director at those meetings can be found on page 64 of the Company's 2016 Annual Report

Board and Director nomination and selection

The Remuneration and Nominations Committee assists the Board with respect to succession planning and the assessment of director candidates, having particular regard to ensuring that the Board is comprised of directors with the appropriate balance of skills, experience, diversity and expertise. Boart Longyear undertakes appropriate checks of director candidates as part of assessing their suitability for appointment to the Board or election by shareholders. When candidates are submitted to shareholders for election or re-election, the Company includes in the notice of meeting all information in its possession that is material to the decision whether to elect or re-elect the candidate.

Director induction and continuing education process

Upon appointment, non-executive directors are given an appointment letter setting out the terms of appointment. The letter details the director's obligations, including to:

- act in the best interests of the Company at all times;
- submit to re-election from time to time as required by the Company's constitution;
- notify the Chairman of any change in circumstances that might prevent the director from being regarded as independent;
- comply with the Company's constitution, governance policies and all applicable legal requirements, including the Company's Securities Trading Policy;
- devote sufficient time to prepare for and attend Board meetings and otherwise to discharge the director's duties;
- keep confidential, and not use for the benefit of any person or party other than the Company, any confidential information of the Company; and
- disclose any directorships, business interests or circumstances that might represent conflicts of interests or reasonably be perceived to interfere with the exercise of the director's independent judgment, or have an adverse impact on the Company's reputation or public profile.

The appointment letter also confers certain benefits and rights upon the director, including indemnities and insurance coverage for liabilities arising out of the discharge of the director's duties and unfettered access to papers, information and employees of the Company. In addition, directors may, with the approval of the Chairman, consult with professional advisors.

The Company has established an induction process for new directors to inform them of the nature of the Company's business, strategies, risks and issues, and expectations about director performance, including awareness of continuous disclosure principles. The Company's induction process also includes meetings with senior management, including the leaders of the Company's business units and administrative functions. The Company has completed its induction process for all of its current directors.

Directors may also engage in continuing education in respect of the skills and knowledge relevant to the Company, the industry in which the Company operates and the obligations of a listed company director. In addition, the Company occasionally engages professional advisors and other third parties to assist with the directors' awareness of regulatory developments and matters impacting on the discharge of their duties.

As part of the assessment process, each director and certain executives complete a questionnaire on the operation of the Board and its committees and the performance and contributions of the directors. The results of the questionnaires are compiled by the Chairman of the Board or committee, as applicable. Board and committee performance evaluations were completed in the fourth quarter of the financial year ended 31 December 2016.

Executive performance

The Company employs a structured performance evaluation process to ensure that senior executives are motivated to deliver shareholder value and are accountable to the Board at all times. The process commences each financial year when the Board establishes and approves corporate performance objectives, as well as individual performance objectives for senior managers of the Company. The Company continuously monitors its remuneration plans and arrangements to ensure they remain appropriate for its executives, directors and shareholders.

Senior executive performance evaluations were conducted for 2016 and details of the results of these evaluations, and their impact on executive remuneration, can be found in the Remuneration Report, on pages 46 to 51 of the Company's 2016 Annual Report (2016 Remuneration Report). Performance against each senior executive's strategic personal objectives impacts the potential incentive an executive may receive under the Company's short-term incentive plan and long term incentive plan, which also sets corporate financial performance and safety objectives that must be met.

The Company maintains an Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) system to systematically assess the consequences of risk in areas such as market, health and safety, environment, finance, legal compliance and reputation and tracks appropriate mitigation actions for identified risks. The Company's risk management framework consists of a number of controls, including:

The Board is assisted and advised in its oversight of the Company's risk management system by two of its committees: the Environment, Health and Safety Committee with respect to health safety and operational risks, generally, and the Audit, Compliance and Risk Committee with respect to controls and compliance risks. Those committees consider the risks identified by senior management and review the corrective actions to mitigate identified risks and deficiencies.

The Board reviewed the risk management framework for the financial year ended 31 December 2016 and is satisfied that it continues to be sound.

Integrity of financial reporting

Prior to approving the Company's financial statements for a reporting period, the Board receives from its Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer a declaration that, in their opinion, the financial records of the entity have been properly maintained, the financial statements comply with appropriate accounting standards and give a true and fair view of the financial position and performance of the entity, and the opinion has been formed on the basis of a sound system of risk management and internal controls that is operating effectively.

Such declarations were received by the Board in respect of both the half-year and full-year financial statements for 2016.

The declarations are supported by certifications made to the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer by certain operating and financial managers of each of the Company's divisions as well as other accounting, tax and financial personnel in the Company's significant operating jurisdictions. The certification framework provides a reasonable, but not absolute, level of assurance and does not imply a guarantee against adverse events or more volatile outcomes arising in the future. Management has also reported to the Board as to the effectiveness of the Company's management of material business risks.

Internal Audit

The Company has an internal audit function. The function is independent from the external auditor, is staffed by three professional auditors and is led by the Associate General Counsel, who reports to the Audit, Compliance and Risk Committee as well as to the Sr. VP, General Counsel and Company Secretary. The consolidated EHS Risk Register is reviewed annually by the Vice President of EH&S to ensure that cited regulations are current and to document whether or not compliance has been achieved. Where a non-compliance is discovered, corrective actions are developed to address the issue and to ensure that any reporting requirements are included in the compliance plan. All agency interactions, including inspections, meetings, hearings or the receipt of environmental citations, notices of violations, penalties or compliance orders are tracked in the corporate EHS Information Management System and reported to the Board.

The policy establishes closed periods when dealing may not take place and also includes prohibitions against short-term trading and hedging or other transactions that limit the economic risk of employees in respect of Company securities granted as remuneration.

Workforce diversity

Go to Workforce Diversity Policy

In accordance with Company's Workforce Diversity Policy, the objectives that follow, and noted progress towards achieving those objectives, were established by, and reported to, the Remuneration and Nominations Committee. Given on-going challenging market conditions impacting the Company, overall employment levels continued to drop during 2016 and recruiting and employment opportunities were extremely limited. Such reductions in the Company's workforce and limited recruitment opportunities have negatively impacted progress towards the Company's diversity objectives for the first time in several years, as noted below.

- Objective: Continued progress in increasing female representation among all employees (excluding drillers and driller helpers) and more specifically in among senior management.

2016 results:

- Female representation among all employees (excluding drillers and driller helpers) decreased to 18% (from 20% in 2014 and 21% in 2015);
- Female representation among senior managers decreased to 9% (from 13% in 2014 and 16% in 2015);
- During 2016, the Board maintained 25% female gender diversity composition

Corporate Governance Statement

BOART LONGYEAR LIMITED

- Objective: Improved internal analysis to more granularly identify functions or businesses that are underrepresented with respect to market demographics for those respective areas.
2016 results:
 - Analysis was completed and reviewed with the Board, and two specific functions identified in 2015 continue to be highlighted for focused improvements as recruiting opportunities arise.
- Objective: Assess current recruiting practices to ensure directors and employees are selected from a diverse pool of candidates. Identify and utilize alternative recruiting sources targeting female and minority candidates.
2016 results:
 - Limited progress was made on this objective, as recruitment activity in 2016 was extremely low because of market conditions and overall reductions in the size of the Company's workforce.
- Objective: Include a specific review process to identify and track female and diverse employee representation in succession plans and leadership development programs.
2016 results:
 - A review of female representation in senior management positions as part of the Company's formal leadership assessment, development and succession management process, including with the Board.

The levels of gender diversity as at 31 December 2016 were:

Gender Diversity	Male	Female
Total Employees	90%	10%
Total Employees (excl. Drillers and Driller Helpers)	82%	18%
Senior Managers	91%	9%
Board of Directors	75%	25%

The Company defines a "senior manager," as reflected in the above table, as an employee with a title of "director" or above. At 31 December 2016, there were 47 employees at or above such a level among a global workforce of 3937 employees.
