Standard and Poor's Downgrades Boart Longyear Debt Ratings

Boart Longyear Limited (ASX:BLY) – Standard and Poor's Rating Services has reviewed the Company's debt ratings and revised them, as follows:

- Corporate Credit Rating – Downgraded to CCC from CCC+
- Secured note rating – Downgraded to B- from B, maintained 1 recovery rating
- Unsecured note rating – Downgraded to CCC from CCC+, maintained 4 recovery rating

Richard O'Brien, President and Chief Executive Officer at Boart Longyear, commented on the rating action, stating, "Standard and Poor's' action does not impact any of our bank covenants and now puts S&P's rating at parity with Moody's. We recognize that the recent downgrades by the rating agencies may present concerns for our creditors and other Company stakeholders and we are committed to addressing those concerns as promptly as possible through the completion of the strategic review of recapitalisation options we previously announced and continue to actively pursue."

He added, "Despite the headwinds of lower demand for exploration and drilling services, our underlying franchise remains strong and continues to generate positive cash-flow. We have the liquidity and financial resources to fund all of our operations for the foreseeable future, including meeting our obligations to our suppliers and other creditors, and we are confident we will be able to identify an effective solution to our capital structure. We remain committed to providing our clients with the industry's highest level of service and best products and to have mutually beneficial relationships with all of our suppliers and business partners, as we have in the past."
